Mental Health Court Practical Triad

Functional Performance

Practical program activities include employment or productivity, continuing education, and mental health recovery and differ in requirement according to each participant's particular condition and functional ability.

The productivity aspect of the program involves individualized activity including volunteer work, sheltered employment, supported employment, supportive employment, gainful employment, etc., as a program requirement scalable to the functional level of the participant.

Volunteer work / Paid Employment

Productivity

Education

 Remedial or Formal Course Work

The educational program component includes the expectation for individualized educational activity including, literacy education, remedial education, parenting classes, GED, technical education, college education, etc., as determined appropriate considering the functional level of the participant.

The recovery component focuses on individualized mental health and substance use therapeutic activity including psychotherapy, behavior management, skills development, medication management, etc., consistent with the course of treatment as prescribed by the participant's clinical treatment team.

 Mental Health / Substance Abuse Treatment

Recovery